

CREDIT LAW

Credit Law is a 12-week course that is apart of the Advanced Credit Administration Program (ACAP), designed to prepare credit professionals for additional managerial responsibilities and the CBF designation exam. This course examines the law of sales, negotiable instruments, and secured transactions under the Uniform Commercial Code. Additionally, an overview of insolvency and major changes to the most current amended laws and legislation that have impact on credit operations will be provided.

Students will also learn how to analyze and resolve basic legal credit issues. Cheryl Pinson is the instructor for this course.
